Girl on tour!

Dubai welcomes Helen Flanagan! And her bikini!

IF BIKINIS
could talk, eh?
This one, sported

by Helen Flanagan, on her recent trip to Dubai, would be grumbling about being constantly over-stretched – the 12-hour days, sand in its crevices and no medical or dental insurance – while its mates tutted about washing machine grazes and sun-tan lotion stains. They're right jobsworths, those bikinis. Worse than French lorry drivers, with their moustaches, berets and bad breath...

BIKINI BABE!

13 Bikini Facts!

$30m swimwear!

The world's most expensive bikini was created by Susan Rosen, in 2006. Featuring over 150 diamonds, it's estimated worth was $30 million. Molly Sims wore it on the centrefold of that year's Sports Illustrated Swimsuit issue.

Oldest bikini!

The world's earliest example of a bikini can be found in Minoan paintings from 1600BC. It depicts women wearing swimsuits that appear surprisingly similar to the classic 1960 bikini.

Critics loved it!

After its debut, the bikini was described as a, "Two-piece bathing suit that reveals everything about a girl except her mother's maiden name."

Nude models!

When Louis Reard planned to debut his modern bikini in 1946, no Parisian models would wear it, so he had to employ Micheline Bernardini, a nude dancer.

Inflatable boobs!

In the 1950s, swimsuits with pointed breasts, known as "high beams," were popular, with some offering inflatable bras to boost cup sizes to the wearer's preference.

Indecent exposure!

In 1907, when Australian swimmer Annette Kellerman wore a one-piece suit in Boston that revealed her arms and legs, she was arrested for indecent exposure.

The 2,020- piece bikini!

The world's largest bikini photo shoot took place on September 25, 2001, where a total of 1,010 women wearing bikinis gathered in Sydney, Australia.

Two-piece and stockings!

In the early 1900s, many American cities created laws that required all women in bathing suits to wear stockings.

Chinese domination!

China is the world's largest exporter of bikinis, taking up 70% of global shipments.

Spend 'n' swim!

In 2005, American women spent nearly $1.4billion on two-piece bathing suits and bikinis.

Sexy shopping!

According to a department store survey, women would rather clean the bathroom, take a call from a telemarketer, do the laundry and take their car in to be serviced than shop for and try on swimsuits.

'Does my bum look big?'

About one in four women don't trust anyone to tell them honestly if a swimsuit looks good on them.

The monokini!

The "monokini" topless swimsuit was introduced in 1964. The Soviet Union described it as "barbarism" and the Vatican daily newspaper decreed it "Negates moral sense."

"I've heard this is the best position

➔ THE CHAPS with a slightly loose grasp on sanity at Red Bull have managed to come up with a genuine recreation of the end of Star Wars. Using just Greece's Corinth Canal, a 280mph Corvus Racer plane and lunatic pilot Péter Besenyei, they made this incredible picture.

"There was a lot of turbulence, and the wind was changing very quickly. Even the birds inside, they are suffering," commented Besenyei, when describing the plane zooming through the 6km-long, 21 metre-wide tunnel, before loop-the-looping the loop around a bridge. Legend.

International Rat Wars!

Swedish rodents take on Brits for monster bragging rights!

➔ IN A WEIRD rat one-upmanship, it seems our plucky British drain dwellers are taking on the Swedes in the battle for which country packs the biggest rodent.

Sweden came piling in with the somewhat terrifying monster on the right, dubbed "Ratzilla", which was 40cm long without the tail. It was so big that exterminators had to use a special trap to catch it, as conventional ones were too small.

Then the UK came off the ropes with the beast on the left captured in Highgate, North London, by householder Adrian Whitaker.

With the rat stunned by a £1 trap, Adrian finished it off with some firewood. "It took a few hits to kill it," said the London dad, proudly, before taking this fantastic picture for his mantelpiece.

Stealth tank!

Polish military build “invisible” weapon!

IF YOU’RE GOING to make a tank, thinks

Polish company Obrum (and our chums at BAE) it’s good to make it [a] chuffing cool and [b] invisible to infrared cameras.

So the PL0-01 here is covered in a mesh of tiles that change temperature, making its outline resemble a car, trees, even the Game Of Thrones throne! OK, not that one.

“I warned you – no more junk mail!”

TECHY TANK!

Toys “R” Us’ new military range was startlingly realistic

Tank couldn’t resist a cheeky wink for the camera

Paranormal Activity 5 was a letdown

Fun tank facts!

- The seven metre-long tank uses a system of hexagonal plates which control the tank’s temperature. These can be manipulated to show other shapes, like cars. Or they can disappear completely by scanning the nearby heat signatures and replicating them on its side.
- As the possible shape combinations are endless, it can even spell letters on its side in infrared letters. Like, “Boom! LOL!” or something.
- Fumes from the tank’s 940bhp engine are cooled to hide the vehicle even more.
- This is, of course, a concept. But the company hopes to see it rumbling into battle around 2018.

£300k Aston-alike!

The David Brown Speedback is a homage to the great Aston DB5 that even Bond would be happy to step into!

- Meet the David Brown Speedback GT, a very British car named after its very British named owner. Confusingly, the chap who bought Aston Martin in the '40s and put his initials on the DB5, DB6 etc was also called David Brown. This is another one. No relation.
 - This non-Aston David Brown has put his money where his passion is and commissioned a classic-looking car with modern, reliable, very powerful oily bits. It was designed by Alan Mobberley, who previously worked at the Bertone style house and shaped all three Land Rover Discoveries. Alan unashamedly drew inspiration from the classic 007 Aston DB5 and DB6 models.
 - The pillarless Speedback wears aluminium panels, hand-formed in Warwickshire, which clad what used to be a current Jaguar XKR chassis – a car which is completely made from alloy, in Birmingham.
 - The XKR's supercharged 503bhp 5.0-litre V8 heart beats under the central-nostrilled bonnet, as does the paddle-shift six-speed automatic gearbox. Rear-wheel drive, naturally, dear boy. It'll hit 62mph in a decent 4.8 seconds, to a top whack of a limited 155mph. Boo!
 - From the outside, though, the only modern aspect of the Speedback is plastic wing mirrors. Everything else looks as '60s as the Beach Boys and LSD. The wheels are knock-off wires, like every fast motor of the '50s. The Speedback doesn't have a full front bumper. Instead there are slim chrome corner bumpers and a huge open radiator grille.
 - The headlights are sloped chrome DB5 impersonators, and tail-lights are just as blatant. Hell, just look at those shark gill front-wing air intakes!
 - What's important to bear in mind here is that most small coach building companies –
- even companies like Lamborghini and Aston Martin – use visible interior and exterior parts borrowed from existing cars. David Brown's creation doesn't expect to sell more than 50 per year, but it still prides itself on having completely unique visible parts. How? By clever stuff like 3D metal printed switches.
- With excellent details including a picnic bench that retracts from the boot, don't expect to pay a penny under £300k for this slice of nice. A convertible version is also promised, but so far the price has been quoted as "between £100,000 and £1million". Unhelpfully.

Farewell, Helmand

As our chaps pull out, we salute their brave service

AFTER EIGHT years of command in Helmand

Province, southern Afghanistan, our proud British troops last week handed Camp Bastion over to the US Marines, witnessed by the 7th Armoured Brigade.

Over 10,000 troops saw action, with many not returning to their families. Whatever you think of the situation, young people losing their lives is an awful thing. Here's Nuts' tribute.

Predator joins Call Of Duty!

Alien big-game hunter playable!

➔ CALL OF DUTY download dumps have always been something to genuinely look forward to. We've had a George A Romero zombie special featuring Buffy The Vampire Slayer, one where you can play as axe-wielding serial killer Jason Voorhees and one set on a fictional Nazi war base on the moon!

So news that the new map pack Devastation, out now, features the 8ft tall, big-game hunting alien isn't surprising, but is definitely a thing of gaming genius. It's out now for Xbox Call Of Duty: Ghosts owners.

PREDATOR DELIVERY!

Complete the field order and your pack falls from the sky marked with a skull. Jump in and you get the classic movie monster, complete with wrist blade and Predator vision.

Predator landed in Hackney. This would be good hunting!

INVISIBILITY!

Stand stock still, and the Predator's invisibility cloak will descend, hiding you from your opponent's view. Cue a round of terminal hide'n'seek!

SHOULDER CANNON!

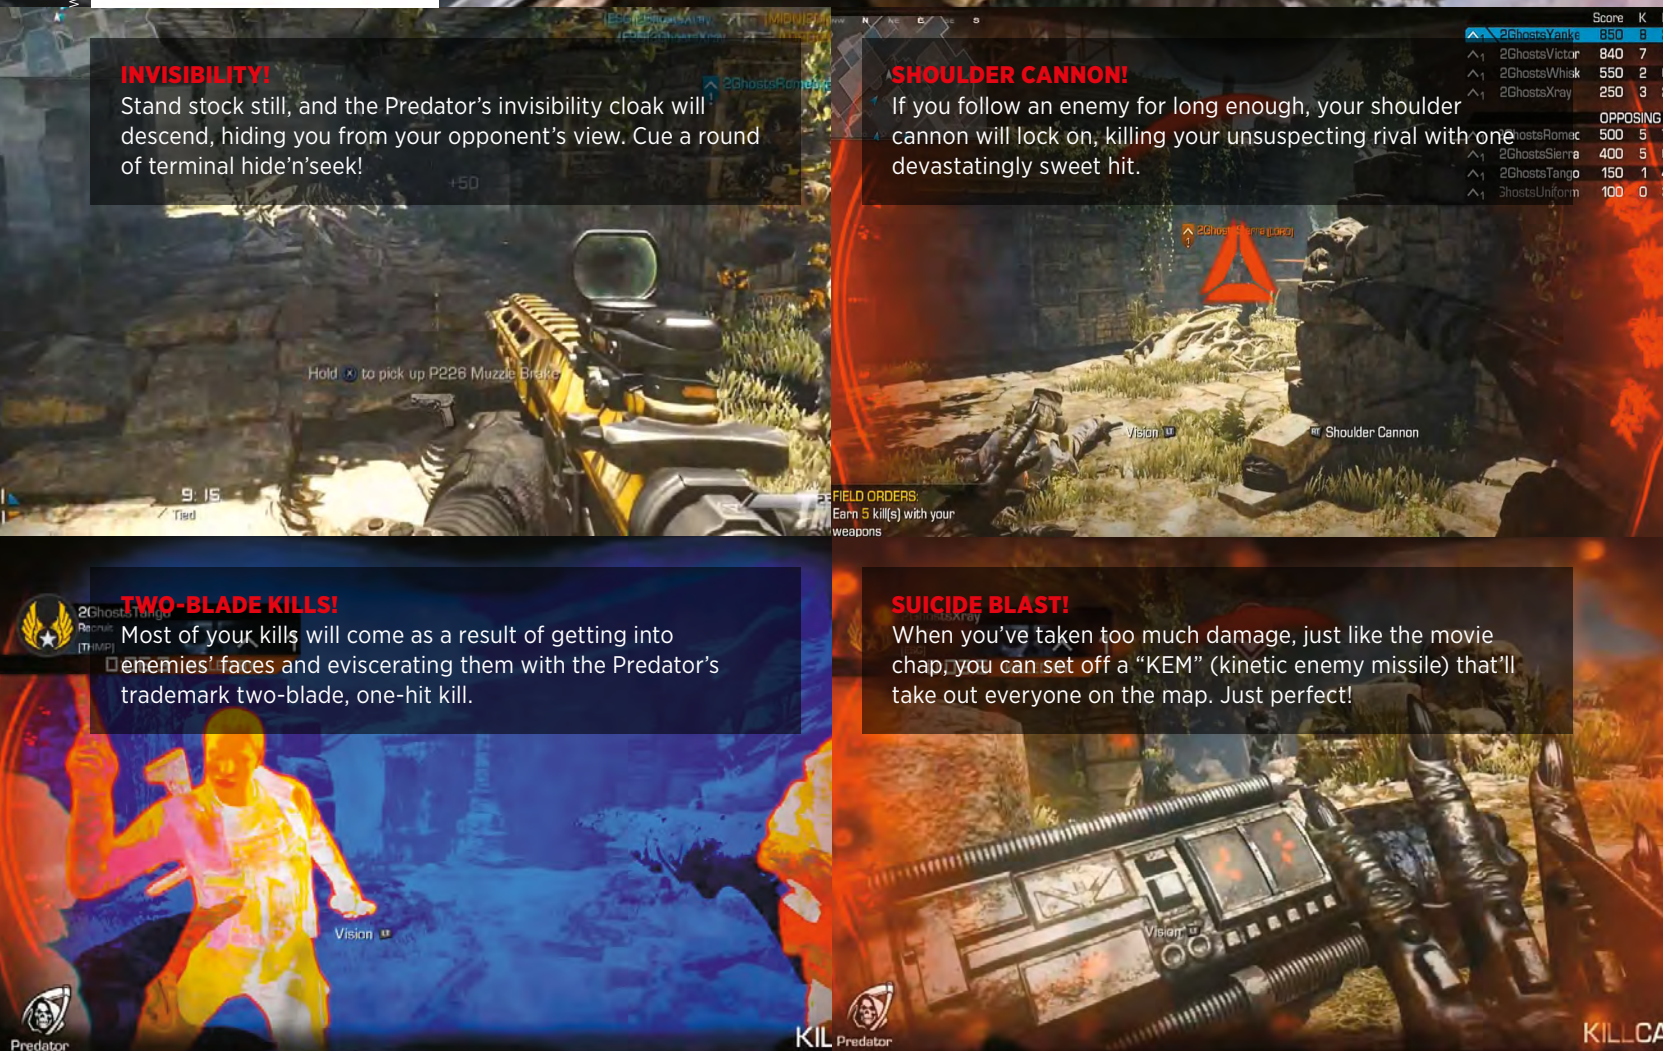

If you follow an enemy for long enough, your shoulder cannon will lock on, killing your unsuspecting rival with one devastatingly sweet hit.

TWO-BLADE KILLS!

Most of your kills will come as a result of getting into enemies' faces and eviscerating them with the Predator's trademark two-blade, one-hit kill.

SUICIDE BLAST!

When you've taken too much damage, just like the movie chap, you can set off a "KEM" (kinetic enemy missile) that'll take out everyone on the map. Just perfect!

LETTER OF THE WEEK!

The life of Riley!

Dear Nuts,
I went to see Countdown being filmed and managed to persuade Rachel Riley to pose as a Bond girl with me.

RICH HARTLEY via email
Can you use your mind control powers to persuade her to do a shoot for Nuts?

Their dance moves needed some work

"Tasty! Not bad pizza either"

All a man needs!

Dear Nuts,
My mate Jonny has been sent home from Afghanistan after being injured in an IED explosion and only has Nuts and a pizza to keep him going. Any chance of getting him in the mag?
MATT via email
Absolutely! We'd imagine the pizza's cold now anyway.

The snowman was terrified

Tragic magic!

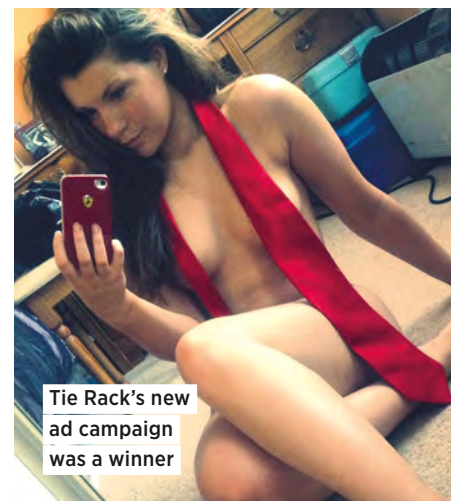

Dear Nuts,
I don't know about you, but if I was a passenger on this tour, I'd look for a refund.
JONESY via email
Clearly the driver wanted to stop to pick up the latest Nuts.

"Er, when it said a shopping trip..."

Sweet meat!

Dear Nuts,
They're called Randoms, but this one didn't look especially random to me.
LIAM KELLY via email
The fact that it's partially pink is what's most disturbing here.

Tie Rack's new ad campaign was a winner

All tied out!

Dear Nuts,
Is my sexy selfie worth a matching vest and shorts?
RACHEL RIVERA Edinburgh
It is, not least because you'll catch your death if you're only going to wear a tie.

Win! £100 cash!

Readers, here's your chance to get your handsome mush in the magazine – and get paid for doing it! Just send your deliciously daft pics, pimped pets and Camera Phone Cuties to nutsletters@ipcmedia.com. The sender of the week's best letter wins a fantastic cash prize of £100! JOKE OF THE WEEK!

Terrible jumper!

A BLIND man is being interviewed about his parachuting hobby. When asked how he manages, he replies: "I'm placed in the door with my guide dog and told when to jump. My hand is placed on my release ring for me and out I go with the dog."

"But how do you know when you're going to land?" he's asked.

"I have a very keen sense of smell," he says. "I can smell the trees and grass when I'm 300 feet from the ground."

Still puzzled, the interviewer asks: "Yeah, but how do you know when to lift your legs for the final landing?"

"Oh, easy," he replies. "I lift them as soon as I feel the dog leash go slack."

JASON COPLEY North London

"So that's why the gloves were half-price"

Feeling a little bit run down!

Q: WHAT'S the difference between a dead dog in the road and a dead politician?

A: There are skid marks in front of the dog.

ARNIE WILSON Kent

Meet Demi Rose!

It's yet another booby Brum babe breaking into Nuts!

DEMI ROSE

DEMI ROSE

“Guys get distracted by my boobs. They cause accidents!”

Hello Demi! How did you enjoy your first ever Nuts shoot?

It was fantastic, thanks! I got to sport some amazing lingerie and everyone made me feel really welcome. I didn't steal any of the lingerie, by the way, though I may ask if I can take some home with me next time for personal use.

How would you introduce yourself to the readers?

Well, I'm from Birmingham and I'm 18 years old. I do beauty therapy as well as modelling for a living and I absolutely love clubbing.

We see from that Twitter that you have a very fluffy pooch.

Are you a massive dog lover?

I am. My dog's called Leo and he's a samoyed. I also have a very fluffy cat called Raggles so my house is basically just one giant furball. I'm pining for a micro-pig as well.

We see you're no stranger to posting a Nuts Magic Monday on Twitter. Has taking selfies become an unmissable part of your daily routine?

It has! I love to keep my fans happy on a daily basis. I enjoy posing in all the sexy costumes that people send. This now means my wardrobe is full of the craziest things – army outfits, giant cat costumes, belly dancer gear... the lot!

What other modelling have you done, aside from in Nuts?

I've been offered Playboy before but I haven't decided whether to do it or not yet. I'd love to go over to LA but they want me to get pretty naked.

Those pesky Yanks! If we gave you £1million to plan your ultimate shoot, where would your imagination take you?

I think a shoot around some beach cabins and in the crystal blue pacific ocean in Bora Bora. It would have to be somewhere near some great restaurants so I can eat ► amazing Thai food and I'd make sure I roped in Lucy Pinder, Holly Eriksson and Kim Kardashian too. We'd all be in bikinis and just spend our time being photographed dashing in and out of the sea.

DEMI ROSE

It's fair to say you've got pretty breathtaking boobs. Have they ever caused an accident?

I'll be honest – yes, it happens a lot. I've seen guys walk into mirrors in bars and shops after getting distracted, and I've also seen girls give their boyfriends a telling off in restaurants because they've been staring at my assets.

Do you have any weird hobbies we should know about?

It's not so much a hobby, but I have a huge array of strange smoothie concoctions I drink every morning. I make myself green smoothies full of algae, wheatgrass and chia seeds. I also drink this really posh juice from Tahiti called Noni, which tastes like crap but is really good for you.

We'll stick to Nesquik, thanks! What are you like on a night out?

I'm only 5ft 2 so the alcohol hits me very quickly. I love getting on the vodka, tequila and sambuca. I get quite rowdy. My friend and I have got a bit of a habit of drinking too much and then leapfrogging over each other on dancefloors. I got told to calm down by a bouncer a couple of weeks ago!

Where would you take us with only £20 to spend?

Oh, that's easy. Nando's for a proper cheap date where we'd binge on peri-peri chicken until we felt sick.

Great to meet you, Demi! Finally, what are you looking forward to about the rest of the year?

As many model trips to hot places as possible, spending as much time as possible with my friends, doing some more night-club leapfrogging and getting to pose for Nuts wearing probably not very much! ▶

“I’d take you on a cheap date to Nando’s!”

DR CHRISTIAN JESSEN

You lot give the chap from Embarrassing Bodies a quick examination!

READERS
QUESTIONS!

S OOTHING GOOLIES!
“Sometimes my testicles move by themselves. Have I got something living in them?”

Greg Manchester

Dr Christian says: “Your testicles move on their own naturally. Lie in the bath and watch – it can be quite soothing! It’s to do with temperature control. They need to be kept cool to optimise sperm production.”

SIR WEE-A-LOT!

“When I go to the pub, I need a wee every 15 minutes, but my mates can last all night. What’s up with my bladder?”

Jason via Facebook

Dr Christian says: “There may be absolutely nothing wrong with your bladder, Jason, or you’ve taught it bad habits by answering its call too often. Other possible issues could include diabetes, infections and kidney problems. I’d pop to your GP for a check-up.”

VERTICAL MYTH!

“Is it true you can’t get a lady pregnant if she’s standing up?”

Tim London

Dr Christian says: “I have one word for you: no. A lady can get pregnant in any position.”

MYOCLONIC JERK!

“What’s the best way to cure hiccups?”

Phil Nottingham

Dr Christian says: “Usually, just any form of distraction. Also, holding your breath and trying to blow out against your firmly closed mouth can be effective.”

WHICH WAY TO TV?

“How does a normal doctor become a TV doctor?”

Bob Winchester

Dr Christian says: “I’m afraid there’s no recognisable path towards TV land. In fact, expect considerable resistance from medical colleagues, as I myself encountered. Perhaps start off in local journalism and keep an ear out for any productions being made in your area.”

NO CURE FOR JEALOUSY!

“Are normal GPs mean to you at medical functions because you’re a celebrity?”

Brian Loughborough

Dr Christian says: “Most GPs are extremely charming and see the important role that television plays in public education and preventative medicine. A small cohort of doctors are particularly rude, but I think that’s more due to jealousy, don’t you?”

BEERS TO THAT!

“What’s the best way to get rid of an out-of-control beer belly before I head to Ibiza?”

Tom London

Dr Christian says: “Get ready to gasp with relief as I reveal the best news ever: beer doesn’t cause a beer belly. Calories from beer are no more likely to contribute to weight gain than calories from anything else. A typical 355ml bottle of beer has a carb-load of around ten to 20 grams and contains roughly 2.5 grams of barley-derived fibre. That puts beer on a par with a slice of whole-wheat bread. In the world of vices, that’s pretty tame. So to answer your question, eat better and do some exercise!”

NEVER AGAIN!

“What’s the best cure for a hangover?”

NN via Twitter

Dr Christian says: “Unfortunately, there isn’t one. To prevent a hangover, don’t mix drinks, drink water between every alcoholic drink and remember this simple rule: the darker the drink, the worse the hangover.”

SIGHT FOR SORE GLANDS?

“Does masturbation really cause blindness?”

John via Facebook

Dr Christian says: “No. Or all of mankind would be blind.”

BREAK-UP WOES!

“Why do you feel physically sick after a break-up?”

Daniel via Facebook

Dr Christian says: “Severe emotional stress can be one of the more unpleasant experiences in life. The despair can be unbearable and these psychological symptoms can often come accompanied by physical ones like feeling sick. The best healer in instances like these is time. It will get better.”

DO YOU KNOW IT ALL?

“Ever seen a condition that left you stumped?”

Ben via Facebook

Dr Christian says: “No doctor in the world knows everything, which means we often come across cases that don’t fit into a recognisable pattern of illness. But all doctors are taught ways of investigating problems, so an answer can usually be found in the end.”

WHAT’S UP, DOC?

“What’s the biggest threat to a young man’s health?”

Tristan via Facebook

Dr Christian says: “It isn’t any sort of disease – road traffic accidents are the biggest killer of young people worldwide.”

CURE FOR CANCER?

“Will there ever be a cure for cancer?”

Jack Yorkshire

Dr Christian says: “Cancer isn’t a single disease but many different diseases all working together. This makes a single cure difficult, but treatments are improving all the time and survival rates for many cancers have improved significantly.”

COME AGAIN?

“Why is my semen sometimes really lumpy, but other times far more watery?”

Kevin Hemel Hempstead

Dr Christian says: “It’s usually simply down to how hydrated your body is. It may also have something to do with how much time has passed since you last ejaculated.”

DR DENIED!

“Are you worried that netdoctor.co.uk is going to do you out of a job?”

Antony via Twitter

Dr Christian says: “Ha! NetDoctor is fantastically informative, but what it can’t do is diagnose. I think doctors’ jobs are safe for now.”

PEPPER ERECTION!

“Can you really cure impotence by placing a jalapeño up your arse?”

Charlie via email

Dr Christian says: “No. Don’t.”

WILL YOU PAY ME?

“If I come on Embarrassing Bodies with a really weird ailment, will I get paid?”

Anon via email

Dr Christian says: “As always, our truck travels the UK, so if you want an appointment, go via www.livefromtheclinic.channel4.com/apply-now, or call 0121 224 8395. You won’t be paid, but your embarrassing-body worries could be a thing of the past!”

● Embarrassing Bodies: Live From The Clinic, 15 April, Channel 4/HD, 8pm.

40 GREATEST-EVER TV SHOWS!

It's a golden age of top-notch telly, so we asked you lot to sort the triumphs from the turkeys!

40 THE LEAGUE OF GENTLEMEN

1999 – 2002

The dark comedy spawned a live tour, a film and some great catchphrases. “Hello Dave!”

FUN FACT! In Korea, it's known as Psycho Village – almost the same as the writing team's follow-up series, Psychoville!

39 CURB YOUR ENTHUSIASM

2000 – PRESENT

The fictitious life of comedy writer/berk Larry David is the epitome of squirm-vision.

FUN FACT! The real-life Larry won't ever joke about an actor's appearance without first getting their permission.

38 BATTLESTAR GALACTICA

2004 – 2009

A re-imagining of the 1978 series about humans at war with a cybernetic race they created.

FUN FACT! Edward James Olmos (Admiral Adama) had a clause in his contract that no aliens or monsters would ever appear.

37 THIS IS ENGLAND 86

We love this gritty tale of ska rudeboys and girls, and a third instalment set during the 1990 World Cup is on its way. Brill!

FUN FACT! Before appearing in the film that spawned the TV series, Thomas Turgoose (Shaun) had never acted before.

36 30 ROCK

2006 – 2012

Tina Fey expected her comedy behind the scenes of a live sketch show to end after the first series but it lasted 138 episodes.

FUN FACT! Lee, the costume designer, is played by 30 Rock's actual costume designer, Tom Broecker.

35 HANNIBAL

2013 – PRESENT

The story of when the skin-wearing scamp was a boring, respectable forensic psychiatrist. Except it's not boring at all...

FUN FACT! The series was pulled in the state of Utah after four episodes for being too gruesome.

34 HOUSE OF CARDS

2013 – PRESENT

Originally a BBC '90s-set political series, House Of Cards shows an American remake can be better than the UK original!

FUN FACT! Rachel Brosnahan (as Rachel Posner) was only supposed to have five lines but went on to be a crucial character.

33 MISFITS

2009 – 2013

Young offenders on community service gain supernatural powers after a storm. Sounds absurd. Turned out to be awesome!

FUN FACT! It was originally set in a shopping centre, with each character working in a different shop.

32 SKINS

2007 – 2013

Funny, dark and occasionally a bit too cool for school, but we loved following Bristol's bright (and beautiful) young things.

FUN FACT! Kaya Scodelario (who plays Effy Stonem) features in music videos for Plan B and Robbie Williams.

31 THE FOLLOWING

2013 – PRESENT

We enjoyed switching our brains off and suspending disbelief for this daft and far-fetched Kevin Bacon serial killer drama.

FUN FACT! Find out how any actor can be linked to Kevin Bacon in six steps or fewer at oracleofbacon.org/!

30 ARRESTED DEVELOPMENT

2003 – 2013

The cult comedy about the dysfunctional Bluth Family made a star of Jason Bateman.

FUN FACT! It was cancelled by Fox midway through its third season, leading to numerous in-jokes about the network.

29 THE THICK OF IT

2005 – 2012

This series about hapless politicians is worth it for the sheer volume and creativity of swearing from Peter Capaldi.

FUN FACT! A “swearing consultant” helped pen Malcolm Tucker's (Peter Capaldi) “creative” insults.

28 SUITS

2011 – PRESENT

Who'd have thought a programme about a bunch of berkish lawyers would be this good? Returns for a fourth series in late 2014.

FUN FACT Rick Hoffman plays the cat-loving Louis Litt in the series, but in real life he's highly allergic to moggies and has to keep an inhaler and epipen handy while filming. Producers also come on set between scenes to vacuum cat hair off his clothes.

27 I'M ALAN PARTRIDGE

1997 – 2002

We loved both series of this, as well as Mid Morning Matters, his autobiography and the Alpha Papa spinoff movie. A-ha!

FUN FACT The only person @ThisIsPartridge follows on Twitter is Shakira (@shakira). There's an enjoyable Accidental Partridge spoof account on Twitter (@AccidentalP) mocking the Partridge-alike things some real-life celebrities say.

26 TRUE BLOOD 2008 – 2014
Blood, guts, vampires and boobs... True Blood's a bit of fun, isn't it? It also introduced Nuts to some seriously sexy stars.

FUN FACT! Anna Paquin, who plays telepathic waitress Sookie Stackhouse in the series, (Sookie) had already made a name for herself in supernatural roles, having played a werewolf in 2007 flick Trick 'r Treat.

25 LIFE ON MARS 2006 – 2007
The idea of a time-travelling detective sounds ridiculous but it turned out to be a startlingly original show with great one-liners.

FUN FACT! Life On Mars was originally rejected by the BBC but was finally made eight years later. It also spawned a sequel, Ashes To Ashes, set eight years later in 1981 and starring Keeley Hawes. Both are named after songs by '70s pop icon David Bowie.

24 LUTHER
2010 – 2013
Idris Elba cemented his position as a national treasure with his portrayal of hard-balled detective John Luther.

FUN FACT! All three seasons end with John Luther delivering exactly the same line of dialogue: "Now what?"

23 BOARDWALK EMPIRE
2010 – PRESENT
Consistently superb Prohibition-era drama starring friend of Nuts Stephen Graham as legendary gangster Al Capone.

FUN FACT! Stephen Graham keeps the Nuts Award for Best Actor we gave him in 2013 in his downstairs toilet.

22 HOMELAND
2011 – PRESENT
This CIA thriller is one Barack Obama's favourite TV shows. Sadly, after two great seasons, the third series went a bit daft.

FUN FACT! Halle Berry was first choice for the role of nutty spook Carrie before Claire Danes eventually landed the part.

21 TOP GEAR
2002 – 2012
How we enjoy keeping the company of three badly-dressed berks talking about cars on a Sunday evening!

FUN FACT! Despite looking dead behind the eyes ever since, Richard Hammond survived a 300mph crash in 2006.

20 LOST
2004 – 2010
The bigwigs assumed Lost would be so good, it was commissioned before it was even written – one reason why it was all so weird!

FUN FACT! Vincent, the pet labrador of Brian and his son Walt, is played by two dogs in the series, one male, one female.

19 24
2001 – PRESENT
It was cancelled after eight seasons, but Jack is back for 24: Live Another Day, coming to Sky this May. We can't wait!

FUN FACT! All cast members are required to have their hair trimmed every five days for continuity purposes.

18 THE OFFICE
2001 – 2003
You lot love the original Gervais/Merchant Office, but we'd also recommend the brilliant (and very different) US version.

FUN FACT! The caretaker who pops up in a couple of episodes and stares at the camera is Stephen Merchant's dad.

17 SONS OF ANARCHY
2008 – PRESENT
Who'd have thought the lives of a close-knit outlaw Californian motorcycle club would have been so nitty, let alone so gritty?

FUN FACT! Mark Boone Junior (Bobby Munson) started out as a stand-up comedian with his friend, Steve Buscemi.

16 PEEP SHOW
2003 – 2014
The hilarious point-of-view sitcom is bowing out next year after its ninth season. But rest assured, it'll go out with a bang!

FUN FACT! Russell Brand auditioned for the part of Super Hans before it eventually went to Matt King.

15 DEXTER
2006 – 2013
A serial killer who doesn't do things by halves, Michael C Hall's twisted vigilante bumped off 158 wrong 'uns in his time!

FUN FACT! Dexter uses elephant tranquiliser m99 (etorphine hydrochloride) to sedate his victims.

14 FATHER TED
1995 – 1998
Ecclesiastical comedy Father Ted about a bunch of Catholic priests is silly, funny and – thankfully – often repeated on More4.

FUN FACT! Dermot Morgan who played Ted died one day after filming wrapped on the third – and therefore final – series.

13 TRUE DETECTIVE
2014 – PRESENT
This insanely captivating Louisiana-set US detective series hasn't even finished yet in the UK, but you lot clearly loved it.

FUN FACT! The two leads were originally cast in each other's roles, but asked to switch before shooting started.

12 SHERLOCK

2010 - PRESENT

Modern, snazzy and occasionally too clever for its own good, but we can't get enough of Benedict Cumberbatch's super-cool sleuth.

FUN FACT! Matt Smith auditioned for the role of Doctor Watson before he auditioned for Doctor Who

11 THE WIRE

2002 - 2008

It takes some tuning-into (it's best watched all over again with the subtitles on!) but this is storytelling at its gritty best.

FUN FACT! Ray Winstone turned down a leading role in The Wire because he didn't want to be away from his family..

10 THE IT CROWD

2006 - 2013

Inspired when a PC repair man came to writer Graham Linehan's house, leading to four marvellous series and a tear-jerking finale.

FUN FACT! Roy's business card gives his mobile number as 077000 900931" - too many digits for a real number.

9 FAMILY GUY

1999 - PRESENT

Family Guy nerds should scour the net for full-length episodes with the swearing uncensored and scenes cut re-inserted.

FUN FACT! The voice of Brian the family dog is simply the show's creator Seth MacFarlane speaking normally.

8 THE SOPRANOS

1999 - 2007

Star James Gandolfini said he was often contacted by real-life wise guys complimenting him on his portrayal of a mobster!

FUN FACT! When James Gandolfini died, the table in the diner where the ending was shot was reserved for a week.

7 SOUTH PARK

1997 - PRESENT

When our often absurd world needs mocking, you can always rely on this crude cartoon to deliver the goods.

FUN FACT! Kenny's muffled lines are actually scripted, but Matt Stone disguises them by talking into his sleeve.

6 THE INBETWEENERS

2008 - 2010

We were championing The Inbetweeners here at Nuts back when it was naught but a near-the-knuckle pilot on E4.

FUN FACT! That's Joe Thomas' (Simon) actual testicle you can see popping out in the fashion show episode.

5 FRIENDS

1994 - 2004

It probably feels like you've seen all 236 episodes a million times, but this universally loved sitcom is still laugh-out-loud funny.

FUN FACT! Bruce Willis guest-starred in two episodes for free after losing a bet to Matthew Perry.

4 THE WALKING DEAD

2010 - PRESENT

Brit Andrew Lincoln wakes from a coma into a world dominated by zombies. Not ideal for him, but it's made for some great TV!

FUN FACT! House rules dictate that, for lunch breaks on set, zombies and humans eat at separate tables.

3 GAME OF THRONES

2011 - PRESENT

Sex! Gore! Dragons! All back on your box this week as the world's most-pirated TV show returns. Still not seen it? Get watching!

FUN FACT! Emilia Clarke (Daenerys Targaryen) was once doused in so much fake blood she got stuck to the toilet.

1 BREAKING BAD

2008 - 2013

It started as something of a sleeper hit. Then, like a mildly impressive chemistry experiment that suddenly erupts into an enormous explosion, Breaking Bad became the most talked about telly show in recent years. The story of a mild-mannered cancer-riddled teacher who morphs into a morally bankrupt meth cook had it all - incredible acting, insanely addictive storylines and proper gut-wrenching twists. Almost 20,000 of you lot voted this your greatest-ever TV show, and we wholeheartedly agree with you!

FUN FACT! Although Breaking Bad ended after five seasons and 62 episodes, the character of Saul Goodman (played by Bob Odenkirk) will return later this year in a prequel about his life before he met Walter White called Better Called Saul.

2 THE SIMPSONS

1989 - PRESENT

Despite being a quarter of a century old and making a few too many in jokes in recent years, the cartoon comedy still cracks us up.

FUN FACT! The main voice actors get paid a whopping £400,000 per episode. To date, 546 episodes have been broadcast over 25 seasons., making it the longest-running American primetime scripted television series.

LUCY COLLETT

Lucy Collett!

The racy redhead's brand new shoot!

Hello Lucy! How's it going?

I'm great, thanks! I'm sort of used to doing these shoots with other girls and grabbing onto other boobs all day, but this time I just had to grab onto my own boobs, which was a bit weird.

Who would be your ultimate booby partner?

For my next shoot, I'd like to pair with Joey Fisher. I'd definitely like to shoot with her again because she's got such humongous boobs! I think our boobs are so big that we'd need our own special issue. And I'm still hoping to set up a shoot with Helen Flanagan. You need to help us sort that out.

What sort of theme would you go for?

Something really dark and sexy. I really like the idea of it being a bit naughty – with Helen dominating me. Or I could tie her up and show her the ropes – quite literally!

We didn't have you down as the kinky type!

Oh yes, I do like to dress up occasionally. That's my thing. I had an encounter with a rugby player not too long ago. Let's just say he was into that.

Oh, really? We've heard those rugby players can be scamps...

Yeah, he was into spanking and stuff. I had to tell him to calm down a bit.

Blimey! We see you're still posting an insane number of selfies.

Yeah, I've been enjoying posting them from the bath recently. I always have my phone in the bath. I normally just sit there and play a game, but it often just leads to me taking some pictures.

You could buy some bath toys.

Well, I have a toy penguin, but it's not much fun. It doesn't squirt water or anything. It's more of a sponge. ▶

LUCY COLLETT

“I love taking selfies in the bath!”

“I’d like to do a shoot
with Joey Fisher!”

So what other adventures have you been on recently?

I went to Tenerife recently with the Page 3 girls, so I was away with Rhian, Mellisa Clarke and Sabine. That Vine bloke, Dapper Laughs, came out and followed us.

That's a bit weird, isn't it?

He literally just followed me out there. He said he was with mates but I didn't believe him. I love him to bits, but following me out to a different country is just a bit strange for me.

What sort of a reaction do you booby babes get when you all walk into a bar together?

Oh, you should see blokes' faces. Ha-ha! We found ourselves doing quite a bit of pole dancing. They absolutely loved that. I'm sure I saw a couple of them pinching themselves.

How's Girl Got Game being going for you?

Bloody good, thanks. I've been playing a lot of Infamous Second Son on the PS4. I even met Troy Baker at the Gaming Baftas. He does the voice of Delsin in the game, and I was really star-struck to meet him.

We've polled our readers to find out what the greatest TV show of all time is. What would yours have been?

Game Of Thrones. There's a lot of sex in it, so that just explains it outright. Also, people die in it who you don't expect to die. I'm just there screaming at my TV!

What's been the greatest-ever Game of Thrones moment?No spoilers!

Well, I loved Drogo and any scene that he was in. He's just this huge, sexy character with a big beard. He's so fit! Which TV show did readers vote the number one?

You'll have to turn to page 32 to find out!

Ha! OK. I bet Breaking Bad did very well. I love that show. "Yeah, bitch!" ►

"I tried pole dancing in Tenerife!"

The week's best TV, movies, games, fashion, music and tech!

LIVERPOOL VS MAN CITY

SUNDAY • Sky Sports 1/HD, 12.30pm

Potential title decider – could this be the biggest game of the season?

"I think it's a freckle, but you might still want to check it with your GP"

Friday 11 April

"Could you tow us to the nearest Esso, mate?"

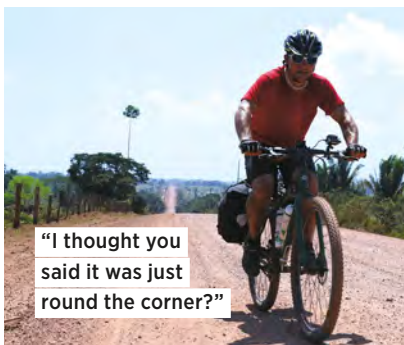

Ice Road Truckers

CHANNEL 5/HD • 8pm

It's time again for our favourite show specifically about truck drivers having to drive across frozen lakes. This week, Alex is caught up in a spectacular blizzard, and Porkchop is revealing more than he ought to about the habits of his work colleagues. As ever, spectacular scenery and big-ass trucks abound.

Flintoff's Road To Nowhere

SKY1/HD • 9pm

Armed with a sore bum and an inevitable new tan, the ex-England international cricketer battles the immense heat as he concludes his cycle along Brazil's Trans-Amazonian Highway. This week, Freddie teaches some kids and goes fishing.

"Hate to say I told you so, Steve, but linen always creases"

The Trip To Italy

BBC TWO/HD • 10pm

Overlook the fact that this is essentially two rich men having a jaunt and stuffing their faces with fine nosh on taxpayers' money, and this is a hoot, as Steve Coogan and Rob Brydon today hit San Fruttuoso in Italy. There's literally no plot, just a couple of funny chaps riffing off each other and producing comedy gold.

Wigan vs Arsenal

ITV/HD • 4.30pm

All the pundits have stroked their chins and decreed that Arsenal have one hand on the FA Cup. But that's what they said about Manchester City last year – and this year! This is set up to be a cracking FA Cup semi-final, due to kick off at 5.07pm to mark the 25th anniversary of the Hillsborough disaster.

True Detective

SKY ATLANTIC/HD • 9pm

It started off as a slow burner, then picked up the pace amazingly. The awesome crime thriller wraps up tonight with us still none the wiser as to how it'll all end. After following a new lead, Cohle and Hart head out to a remote house in the bayou. Anyone else get the feeling it's all going to kick off?

Liverpool vs Man City

SKY SPORTS 1/HD • 12.30pm

An absolutely cracking game should be on the cards, as the Prem's most free-scoring teams come together in a match which may decide where the trophy ends up. City can probably afford a draw, but Liverpool don't do draws and are the Prem's form team.

Golf: The Masters

BBC TWO/HD & SKY SPORTS 4/HD • 6.30pm

The fourth and final day from the photogenic Augusta National sees a Woods-free line up swearing their way out of bunkers. Last year, Adam Scott became the first Aussie to lift the trophy after a tense play off. This is a tournament that tends to go to play-offs, so it'll probably be a late finish.

Real Madrid vs Barcelona

SKY SPORTS 1/HD • 8pm

Well, they don't get much bigger than this. The La Liga title is a three-horse race with Atlético Madrid also in the running, but it's the two giants of Spanish football duking it out for the Copa Del Rey, which means Ronaldo vs Messi in tonight's final.

Party House

E4/HD • 10pm

Wow, the idea for this new E4 reality show sounds like it could be either amazing or terrible. Every week, a bunch of hedonistic types are given the keys to a mansion and filmed as they throw a big, balls-out-of-the-bath house party for reality telly. It sounds like Skins, Gogglebox and TOWIE all rolled into one. Ace!

CONFESSION OF THE WEEK!

'We went for a dip together'

MY FELLA and I went to a spa recently, and seeing each other in our swimwear made us both very horny. As I straddled him in the water, I felt his hands slowly stroke my back and move down into my bikini bottoms. The idea of having sex in such a public place really turned us on. I held his erection through his shorts until we couldn't resist any longer – I whispered for him to enter me. Luckily the water was naturally dark, so nobody could see what we were up to. It was very exciting, and as soon as we got back to our hotel room, we finished what we'd started in the pool!

Tammy Surrey

'He revved my engine'

ME AND my boyfriend were driving home from our local one evening. He was sober but I'd had a couple of wines and, feeling horny, began touching his leg. I could feel him getting hard, and he looked at me with a grin. He pulled over and I pulled off my dress and removed my bra and pants straight away. I sucked his manhood and then he did me from behind while I held on to the seat. Then, as a treat for my boyfriend, I sat on his Subaru's racing stick. He revved the engine so I could feel it pulse through me. We carried on kissing as I rocked back and forth and he pushed the accelerator pedal. I came pretty quickly and we both couldn't stop giggling!

Suzanne Halifax

'We took a taxi down town'

I SPENT last Saturday night drinking and dancing in a club with my fella. I'd been on the dancefloor for ages, grinding my hips against him. I could feel him getting hard. Our eyes met, and we both shared that sheer look of lust. We left the club straight away and jumped in a taxi. As we kissed, I slowly moved my lips down his neck, chest and toned abs. I undid his zipper, releasing a pulsing hard-on. I took his member in my mouth and gave it a quick suck – pausing to lick a few beads off the top. All that excitement must have pushed his buttons, as my man came in seconds! I couldn't wait to get back to our house so I could enjoy my turn!

Kate Fleetwood

Nuts HOOK-UPS CONFESSIONS!

"I met this hot guy on Hook-Ups and couldn't wait to get him into bed. I went round to his after work one night and while he fixed me a drink, I laid back on his bed in my dress with just the top of my hold-ups on show. I saw his bulge pulse inside his suit trousers. I moved closer and unzipped him. As I gave him my best blow job ever, I felt him quivering with pleasure. I was soon bent over, and he slipped on a condom before pushing his hard member inside me. I couldn't help but scream in excitement, gasping as he went deeper and deeper. I then straddled him, squeezing my nipples as I bounced up and down. We both came within a few minutes!"

1 Where's the strangest place you've had sex?

"There was this one occasion – and I won't say exactly where – but one thing led to another and I ended up in the back of a fire engine while it was parked up in the station!"

2 What really turns you on?

"I love a confident man. I'm very turned on by a man who knows what he wants. That way you can both become very wild!"

3 What's your favourite position?

"It all depends on my mood. I'm up for being adventurous and using my imagination – I like to be spontaneous."

4 Is it better to give or receive?

"Everyone loves to receive but I love to please. It's all about the foreplay – you need good foreplay to get you in the mood."

5 What one thing would you really like to try but haven't yet?

"An intimate night playing strip poker, in a pair of stilettos with a straight drink. That would give me a lot of pleasure."

6 Ever got it on with another girl?

"Let's just say that alcohol can be very dangerous with a room full of girls!"

7 Have you ever made a sex tape?

"I'm always up for trying fun things. I think a naughty pic or a sexy selfie never goes amiss."

8 What's the rudest thing you've ever done?

"It's far too rude to splash in Nuts magazine for everyone to read. Ha-ha!"

9 What's your trademark move in the bedroom?

"A good old-fashioned 69 suits me. I love to be pleased while knowing I'm satisfying my man."

10 What's your favourite sexy outfit?

TITLE TUSSLE!

LIVERPOOL VS MAN CITY SPECIAL!

Suarez: 'I want that title!'

The Uruguayan super-striker on his record-breaking season!

Hi Luis! It hasn't been going badly for you this season, has it?

I guess not, but it doesn't matter at all what people think about whether I'm good or bad, I've learnt that. The most important thing is the success and progression of the team. I've played well and I have ambitions, but they're the same as this club, I think.

Which are...

To be an important team, a team that wins trophies, a team that grows and plays football in the right way.

You went from a guy who wanted to leave the club to one that seems totally committed to the Liverpool dream. What changed?

I wanted to be part of the growth and development here. After some time, I saw that the club and Brendan Rodgers were building something special. And the fans were always incredible to me. They support the group in all conditions. That level of commitment is unique to English football.

So you are going to be sticking around now?

Yeah, of course. I signed a new contract because I'm very happy here. I'm in the best league in the world and I think I'm also playing the best football of my career. I'm ambitious for the team and for the club. I believe we can do special things here.

Yourself and Daniel Sturridge have struck up what's surely the best striking partnership in the Premier League. What's the secret there?

We both just want to score goals! When you have two players committed to scoring, it gives the rest of the team confidence. We also provide goals for each other, which is important, but our aims are to get on the scoresheet. And there are goals coming from different positions too.

Like from Steven Gerrard, for example! How important is your captain to the club?

I think he's our most important player. His quality is obvious wherever he plays, and his attitude is always impressive. He leads by example and drives all the other players on. For someone who has been one of the best players in the world for many, many years, he is a very humble guy, too. Which is amazing when you consider what he has achieved.

Thanks, Luis. Finally, the biggest question of all – can Liverpool win the Premier League this year?

OK... Our first goal is Champions League football. To bring it back here would be incredible. I am told that Champions League nights at Anfield are a fantastic experience, something you will never forget. After that, why not win the Premier League too? If we win all our games, we will have the title. And personally, I always aim to win everything!

"Look, he's got a big yellow bogey on his shirt!"

"Is it over yet?
Can I go back to bed, please?"

Toure: 'I'm a City man for life!'

The midfielder nails his colours to the mast!

➔ Hi Yaya! How do you see City's challenge for the Premier League title ending up?

Well, it looks like it might even go to the last game! I'm hopeful we can win, but in a league like this there are never easy games. I guess that's what makes the Premier League so exciting for everyone around the world!

The City camp seems a much happier bunch than the one we saw last season...

Ah, we were fine last season. We just didn't play how we should have. This is a good group of people, high quality but also with good attitudes and temperament. We have all bought into the task here – to make Manchester City one of the best and most successful clubs in the world.

And what about yourself? You're scoring goals and dominating games, getting goals and assists. Is this the best season of your career?

Ask me at the end and I will tell you! For me it depends on what we win. Yes, it's nice to hear fans chanting your name and people saying nice things, and statistics mounting up, but at the end of the day, I came here to win trophies.

How much does the hurt of losing your title last season spur you on?

Oh, massively. We didn't perform how we should have and we only have ourselves to blame. Even now, I hate thinking about it. But at the same time, I can turn it into a positive. From disappointment, you can get motivation to make sure it doesn't happen again.

Speaking of disappointments, why did City struggle to progress in the Champions League again this season?

Winning the Champions League was one of the big reasons I came to City, yet I also knew it wouldn't happen overnight. We've come a very long way in a short time but European football is a difficult obstacle. We'll get there though. We've had some difficult groups but I think you can see some progression. Eventually, we'll put ourselves in a position to win that trophy.

Now then. You've gone on record as saying you will end your career at City...

And I meant it. I'm very fortunate to be at a club that looks after its people so well. And the fans show tremendous respect and support. This doesn't go unnoticed by me. I feel I am at a club that is united with a common goal, and that is difficult to find. Yes, winning things is vitally important but so is feeling part of something special, both on and off the pitch. And I've got that.

Who do you want to win?

Celebrity Man United fans make an impossible choice!

TINCHY STRYDER

RAPPER

"Man City. Although City are the local rivals, the rivalry doesn't feel the same to me as it does with Liverpool. A few of my friends support Liverpool and they've been giving me hell due to our not so great season – to say the least!"

MARK CUETO

ENGLAND

RUGBY STAR

"If I had to say anyone, I would say Liverpool.

Obviously, being a Red, I don't want City to win, but to be fair, with my general football head on, I'd like Liverpool to win it as it's been so long since they last did – Gerrard deserves to have one. They're also playing the best football in the Prem by a mile. I was at Anfield and Old Trafford for both games and they were next-level!"

"This is like asking me to choose my favourite daughter (actually that's easier – the older one is my favourite). With Man City's squad, I half expected them to win it so I'm prepared for the inevitable. Liverpool have the momentum, so I think they'll win it, but I'd rather a small club like City win."

BRIAN BLESSED

ACTING LEGEND

"I don't bloody want either of them to win, my love! But my wife is a Liverpool fan, has scarves all over the bloody house, and so I'm going to bow to my wife and go for Liverpool."

It's the London Marathon Drinking Game!

How to make a load of people running around the capital much more entertaining!

➔ IT'S THAT time again – when the nation's masochists queue up to run 26 miles and 385 yards through the streets of London's fashionable London, at an hour of day when most sensible people are sleeping off their hangover, as the Marathon comes around again. For the rest of us, the sight of some blokes and ladies running for a really, really, really long time can get a tad on the boring side, but if there's just one thing that's guaranteed to make the race a helluva lot more fun, it's introducing a load of booze into the equation. So stock up heartily on drinkables and enjoy the official Nuts London Marathon Drinking Game.

● Watch the London Marathon on 13 April at 8.30am, BBC1.

Torres looks like he'll be on his way!

Mourinho is sending out a clear message to the £50m man!

➔ IF I was Fernando Torres, I think I'd be preparing myself mentally for the fact that I don't feature in Jose Mourinho's long-term plans. When you're being left on the bench and a player, in this case Andre Schurrle, is being played out of position ahead of you, then it's not a good sign.

I wonder if Jose regrets loaning Romelo Lukaku to Everton. Lukaku never seems to come into the equation when people talk about Chelsea's lack of striking options, but he has been fantastic for West Brom and Everton in the past two seasons. He might not be the finished article, but it strikes me that he is exactly what Chelsea need right now – he does things that defenders can't handle. He'd have given Chelsea a little bit of variation.

But if I was Fernando Torres, I'd be thinking, "Crikey, if I can't get a game when Samuel Eto'o is out, I'm never going to get a game. It might be time for me to be on my way."

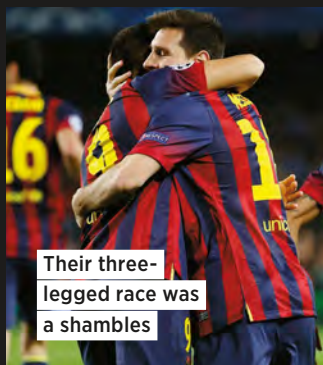

He went to great lengths to hide his cold sore

The Barça mess is ridiculous!

BARCELONA'S YEAR-LONG transfer ban for infringing rules on signing young players is incredible. It's staggering to me that a club of that stature can be involved in the kind of underhand dealings that have led to this. It just doesn't make sense.

It just underlines that the big clubs have to be whiter than white. Why, when you have the best player in the world, would you risk getting your wrists slapped over a few youth players?

Their three-legged race was a shambles

I don't think Barcelona will suffer unduly, because they're such a huge club, but I still don't know what they were playing at.

I fear for Fulham and their fans!

IT LOOKS like Fulham, a club with a proud history, are going to be relegated from the Premier League, and it's all down to mismanagement.

You have a good manager in Martin Jol, so you get rid of him. You bring in Rene Meulensteen, then get rid of him. Add Alan Curbishley and Ray Wilkins to the structure, then get rid of them too. And now you have Felix Magath, a stern taskmaster, but it's just change after change...

The players don't know whether they're coming or going. And that, I'm afraid, is only going to end one way. I fear for Fulham right now.

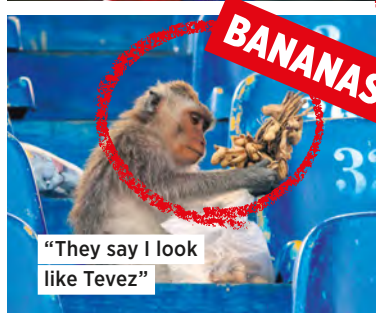

The pigeon got the pair of them in a matter of seconds
